Thank goodness for XM traffic! As a daily commuter to points outside of the city XM traffic has saved me some serious time. I used to listen to the AM traffic reports but sometimes the local stations do not cover the roads I take, as they might not apply to the city zones. Yet whenever any traffic, flooding or ball games are around I know exactly what to expect thanks to XM traffic. As they are currently updating and alerting the listeners and encouraging them to call in to help out others. It would really be sad if they were forced to discontinue the service due to the fact that the local stations can't focus as much time or resources to the people who want and need the traffic updates. I absolutely love my satellite radio and the freedom it gives me in the car of just listening to music, news and traffic at my own digression.

Best Regards,
Ross Gordon
